J.M. CONSTRUCTION AND S+H CONSTRUCTION WIN 2010 CONTRACTOR OF THE YEAR AWARDS

J.M. Construction Co., an award-winning residential design/build construction firm located in Medway, Massachusetts, and S+H Construction, Inc. of Cambridge, Massachusetts, one of greater Boston area's premier residential renovation and custom home building companies, are recipients of the 2010 Contractor of the Year (CotY) Awards – Eastern Massachusetts region.

J.M. won a Gold award in the “Residential Bathroom over $60,000” category. They renovated a cramped and outdated bathroom in a 100+ year old home without sacrificing the charm of a home from this time period resulting in a brighter, welcoming retreat with state-of-the-art amenities.

S+H won a Silver award in the “Entire House over $500,000” category. They transformed the interior and exterior of a 10,000-square-foot home incorporating family-friendly space, expanding the kitchen and master bedroom and bath and creating a backyard with everything from ice rink to swimming pool. Charles R. Myer & Partners Architects and Andra Birkerts Design also collaborated on the project.

The annual CotY competition, sponsored by the National Association of the Remodeling Industry (NARI), is renowned throughout the remodeling industry recognizing exceptional achievement in remodeling and construction. Their ‘Evening of Excellence’ awards presentation was held November 3rd.

J.M. Construction is a multi-level design/build company, offering a range of services from complete home remodels to single-room renovations and small projects.
